(3) In subsection (1)(b), “unqualified report” means—

- (a) if the balance sheet was prepared for a financial year of the company—a report stating without material qualification the auditor's opinion that the balance sheet has been properly prepared in accordance with the requirements of this Act; or

- (b) if the balance sheet was not prepared for a financial year of the company—a report stating without material qualification the auditor’s opinion that the balance sheet has been properly prepared in accordance with the provisions of this Act that would have applied had it been prepared for a financial year of the company.

(4) For the purposes of an auditor’s report on a balance sheet that was not prepared for a financial year of the company, the provisions of this Act apply with such modifications as are necessary because of that fact.

(5) For the purposes of subsection (3), a qualification is material unless the auditor states in the auditor’s report that the matter giving rise to the qualification is not material for the purpose of determining by reference to the company’s balance sheet whether at the balance sheet date the amount of the company’s net assets was not less than the aggregate of its called-up share capital and undistributable reserves.

73. (1) This section applies to shares that are allotted by a company during the period between the date as at which the balance sheet required by section 72 is prepared and the passing of the resolution converting the company into a public company if the shares are allotted as fully or partly paid up as to their nominal value or any premium on them otherwise than in cash.

(6) A proposed merger between two or more companies exists for the purposes of this section if one of the companies proposes to acquire all the assets and liabilities of the other or others in exchange for the issue of its shares or other securities to shareholders of the other or others, whether or not the issue is accompanied by a cash payment.

 - (ii) ratified by the company after it occurs;
- (d) if the cause of action arises from an act or omission that has already occurred—whether the act or omission could be, and in the circumstances would be likely to be, ratified by the company;

- (a) shall dismiss the application; and
- (b) may make any consequential order that it considers appropriate.

(4) If the application is not dismissed under subsection (3), the Court—

- (a) may give directions as to the evidence to be provided by the company; and
- (b) may adjourn the proceedings to enable the evidence to be obtained.

- (a) the allottee has not received the valuer's report required to be sent to the allottee; or Exception to valuation requirement: arrangement with another company.

- (a) by the transfer to the company; or
- (b) by the cancellation, of all or some of the shares (or of all or some of the shares of a particular class) in another company.

(4) This section applies to an arrangement only if, under the arrangement—

- (a) all the holders of the shares in the other company; or
- (b) if the arrangement applies only to shares of a particular class—all the holders of shares of that class, can take part in the arrangement.

(4) If the consideration to be valued is accepted partly in payment up of the nominal value of the shares and any premium and partly for some other consideration given by the company, section 368 and subsections (1) to (3) of this section apply as if references to the consideration accepted by the company included the proportion of that consideration that is properly attributable to the payment up of that value and any premium.

(5) In such a case—

- (a) the valuer shall carry out, or arrange for, such other valuations as will enable the valuer to determine that proportion; and

(2) The Court is required to settle a list of creditors entitled to object and for that purpose it—

- (a) shall ascertain, as far as possible without requiring an application from any of the creditors, the names of those creditors and the nature and amount of their debts or claims; and
- (b) may publish notices fixing a day or days within which creditors whose names are not entered on the list—

(3) If, after a reduction of capital, the company is unable to pay the amount of a debt or claim of a creditor to whom this section applies and the liquidation of the company has been completed, the creditor may apply to the Court for an order under subsection (4).

(4) If, on the hearing of an application made under subsection (3), the Court is satisfied that the creditor was unaware of the proceedings for reduction of the company's share capital, or of their nature or effect, it may make an order—

(2) If under this Part or Part XX, shares of a limited company are redeemed or purchased wholly out of the company's profits, the company shall transfer to a reserve an amount equal to the amount by which the company's issued share capital is diminished in accordance with section 463 or 524.

(3) If—

- (a) the shares are redeemed or purchased wholly or partly out of the proceeds of a fresh issue; and
- (b) the aggregate amount of the proceeds is less than the aggregate nominal value of the shares redeemed or purchased, the company shall transfer to the capital redemption reserve an amount equal to the difference.

(4) Subsection (3) does not apply to a private company that, in addition to the proceeds of the fresh issue, applies a payment out of capital in accordance with Division 4 in making the redemption or purchase.

(5) If a company's share capital is diminished in accordance with section 524, the company shall transfer to its capital redemption reserve an amount equal to that by which the company's share capital is diminished.

(6) A company may use its capital redemption reserve to pay up new shares that are to be allotted to members as fully paid bonus shares.

(7) Subject to subsection (6), the provisions of this Act relating to the reduction of a company's share capital apply as if the capital redemption reserve were part of its paid up share capital.

(8) If a company fails to comply with subsection (1) or (2), the company, and each officer of the company who is in default, commit an offence and on conviction are each liable to a fine not exceeding one million shillings.

483.(1) This section applies if a payment out of capital is made in accordance with Division 4.

(2) If the permissible capital payment is less than the nominal amount of the shares redeemed or purchased, the company shall transfer an amount equal to the amount of the difference to the company's capital redemption reserve.

- (b) any amount that represents unrealised profits of the company for the time being standing to the credit of any revaluation reserve maintained by the company, by an amount not exceeding (or by amounts in total not exceeding) the amount by which the permissible capital payment exceeds the nominal amount of the shares.

(4) If the proceeds of a fresh issue are applied by the company in making a redemption or purchase of its own shares in addition to a payment out of capital under this Division, the references in subsections (2) and (3) to the permissible capital payment refer to the aggregate of that payment and those proceeds.

(5) If a company fails to comply with subsection (2), the company, and each officer of the company who is in default, commit an offence and on conviction are each liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred thousand shillings.

(6) If, after a company or any of its officers is convicted of an offence under subsection (5), the company continues to fail to transfer the requisite amount to the company's capital redemption reserve, the company, and each officer of the company who is in default, commit a further offence on each day on which the failure continues and on conviction are each liable to a fine not exceeding fifty thousand shillings for each such offence.

- (a) issues shares on terms that they are or are liable to be redeemed; or holder of the shares other than the holder's right to sue the company for damages in respect of its failure.

(4) The Court may not grant an order for specific performance of the terms of redemption or purchase if the company shows that it is unable to meet the costs of redeeming or purchasing the shares out of distributable profits.

(5) If the liquidation of the company has been completed and at the commencement of the liquidation any of the shares have not been redeemed or purchased, the terms of redemption or purchase are enforceable against the company.

(6) Shares redeemed or purchased under this subsection are cancelled by operation of this subsection.

(7) Subsection (5) does not apply if—

- (a) the terms provided for the redemption or purchase to take place at a date later than that of the commencement of the liquidation; or
- (b) during the relevant period the company could not at any time have lawfully made a distribution equal in value to the price at which the shares were to have been redeemed or purchased.

(8) For the purpose of subsection (7), the relevant period is the period—

- (a) from and including the date on which the redemption or purchase was to have taken place; and
- (b) ending with the commencement of the liquidation.

(9) The following are payable in priority to amounts that the company is liable to pay under subsection (5) in respect of shares—

- (a) all other debts and liabilities of the company (other than any due to members in their character as such);
- (b) if other shares confer rights (whether as to capital or as to income) that are preferred to the rights as to capital attaching to the first-mentioned shares—any amount due in satisfaction of those preferred rights.

(10) Subject to subsection (9), those amounts are payable in priority to amounts due to members in satisfaction of their rights as members (whether as to capital or income).

PART XVII—HOW COMPANY’S ASSETS ARE TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Division 1—Introductory provision

485. (1) In this Part, “distribution” means every description of distribution of the assets of a company to its members (whether in cash or otherwise) subject to the exceptions in subsection (2).

Interpretation Part XVII.

(2) The following are not distributions for the purposes of this Part—

- (a) an issue of shares as fully or partly paid bonus shares;
- (b) a reduction of share capital —
 - (i) by extinguishing or reducing the liability of any of the members on any of the shares of the company in respect of share capital not paid up; or
 - (ii) by paying off paid up share capital;
- (c) the redemption of any of the company’s own shares out of capital (including the proceeds of any fresh issue of shares, or out of unrealised profits);
- (d) a distribution of assets to members of the company on its liquidation.

(3) This Part does not limit the application or effect of any enactment, or any provision of a company’s articles, restricting the amounts out of which, or the cases in which, a distribution can be made.

(4) Except as provided by subsection (5), this Part does not limit the application or effect of any rule of law restricting the amounts out of which, or the cases in which, a distribution may be made.

(5) For the purposes of any rule of law requiring distributions to be paid out of profits or restricting the return of capital to members—

- (a) section 492 (distributions in kind: determination of amount) applies to determine the amount of any distribution or return of capital consisting of or including, or treated as arising in consequence of the sale, transfer or other disposition by a company of a non-cash asset; and
- (b) section 493 (distributions in kind: treatment of unrealised profits) applies as it applies for the purposes of this Part.

(6) In this section, a reference to a distribution is to amounts regarded as distributions for the purposes of any rule of law of the kind referred to in subsection (4).

Division 2—General rules for distributions

486. (1) A company may make a distribution only out of profits available for the purpose.

Distributions to be made only out of profits available for the purpose

(2) The profits of a company available for distribution are—

- (a) its accumulated, realised profits (so far as not previously utilised by distribution or capitalisation), less—
- (b) its accumulated, realised losses (so far as not previously written off in a lawfully made reduction or reorganisation of capital).

(3) If a company contravenes subsection (1), the company, and each officer of the company who is in default, commit an offence and on conviction are each liable to a fine not exceeding one million shillings.

(4) A company may not apply an unrealised profit in paying up debentures or amounts unpaid on its issued shares.

(5) An application of an unrealised profit in contravention of subsection (4) is void.

487. (1) A public company may make a distribution

Net asset restriction on only—distributions by public companies.

- (a) if the amount of its net assets is not less than the aggregate of its called-up share capital and undistributable reserves; and
- (b) if, and to the extent that, the distribution does not reduce the amount of those assets to less than that aggregate.

(2) For the purpose of subsection (1), a company's net assets are the aggregate of the company's assets less the aggregate of its liabilities.

(3) For the purpose of subsection (1), a company's undistributable reserves are—

- (a) its share premium account;
- (b) its capital redemption reserve;
- (c) the amount by which its accumulated, unrealised profits (so far as not previously utilised by capitalisation) exceed its accumulated, unrealised losses (so far as not previously written off in a reduction or reorganisation of capital duly made);
- (d) any other reserve that the company is prohibited from distributing—
 - (i) by any enactment (other than one contained in this Part); or
 - (ii) by its articles.

(4) The reference in subsection (3)(c) to capitalisation does not include a transfer of profits of the company to its capital redemption reserve.

(5) A public company may not include any uncalled share capital as an asset in a financial statement that is relevant for purposes of this section.

(6) If a company contravenes subsection (1) or (5), the company, and each officer of the company who is in default, commit an offence and on conviction are each liable to a fine not exceeding one million shillings.

Division 3—Justification of distribution by reference to financial statements

488.(1) Whether a distribution may be made by a company without contravening this Part is determined by reference to the following items as stated in the relevant financial statements—

Justification of distribution by reference to relevant financial statements.

- (a) profits, losses, assets and liabilities;
- (b) provisions of a kind specified for the purposes of this section by the regulations;
- (c) share capital and reserves (including undistributable reserves).

(2) The relevant financial statements are the company's last annual financial statements, except that—

- (a) if the distribution would be found to contravene this Part by reference to the company's last annual financial statements, it may be justified by reference to interim financial statements; and
- (b) if the distribution is proposed to be declared during the company's first accounting reference period, or before any financial statements have been circulated in respect of that period, it may be justified by reference to initial financial statements.

(3) The company shall ensure that the requirements of the Fifth Schedule are complied with as and if applicable.

(4) If the company fails to comply with any applicable requirement of the Fifth Schedule, the relevant financial statements may not be relied on for the purposes of this Part and the distribution is accordingly treated as contravening this Part.

489.(1) In determining whether a proposed distribution may be made by a company in a case in which—

Successive distributions etc by reference to the same financial statements

- (a) one or more previous distributions have been made in pursuance of a determination made by reference to the same relevant financial statements; or
- (b) relevant financial assistance has been given, or other relevant payments have been made, since those financial statements were prepared.

this Part applies as if the amount of the proposed distribution was increased by the amount of the previous distributions, financial assistance and other payments.

(2) The financial assistance and other payments that are relevant for the purpose of subsection (1) are as follows—

- (a) financial assistance lawfully given by the company out of its distributable profits;
- (b) financial assistance given by the company in contravention of section 442 or 443 in a case where the giving of that assistance reduces the company's net assets or increases its net liabilities;
- (c) payments made by the company in respect of the purchase by it of shares in the company, except a payment lawfully made otherwise than out of distributable profits;
- (d) payments of any description specified in section 462.

(3) In this section, "financial assistance" has the same meaning as in section 450.

(4) For the purpose of applying subsection (2)(b) in relation to any financial assistance—

- (a) "net assets" means the amount by which the aggregate amount of the company's assets exceeds the aggregate amount of its liabilities; and
- (b) "net liabilities" means the amount by which the aggregate amount of the company's liabilities exceeds the aggregate amount of its assets, taking the amount of the assets and liabilities to be as stated in the company's accounting records immediately before the financial assistance is given.

(5) For this purpose a company's liabilities include any amount retained as reasonably necessary for the purposes of providing for any liability—

- (a) the nature of which is clearly defined; and

- (b) which is either likely to be incurred or certain to be incurred but uncertain as to amount or as to the date on which it will arise.

Division 4—Relevant accounting matters

490. (1) If development costs are shown or included as an asset in a company's accounting records, any amount shown or included in respect of those costs is to be treated for the purposes of section 486 as a realised loss.

Treatment of development costs

(2) Subsection (1) does not apply to any part of that amount representing an unrealised profit made on revaluation of those costs.

(3) Subsection (1) does not apply if—

- (a) there are special circumstances in the company's case justifying the directors in deciding that the amount there mentioned is not to be treated as required by subsection (1);
- (b) it is stated in the note required by regulations in force for the purposes of section 647 as to the reasons for showing development costs as an asset, that the amount is not to be so treated; and
- (c) the note explains the circumstances relied upon to justify the decision of the directors to that effect.

491. In determining for the purposes of this Part whether a company has made a profit or loss in respect of an asset when—

Determination of profit or loss in respect of asset where records incomplete.

- (a) there is no record of the original cost of the asset; or
- (b) a record cannot be obtained without unreasonable expense or delay, its cost is taken to be the value ascribed to it in the earliest available record of its value made on or after its acquisition by the company.

Division 5—Distributions in kind

492. (1) This section applies for determining the amount of a distribution consisting of or including, or treated as arising in consequence of, the sale, transfer or

Distributions in kind: determination of amount other disposition by a company of a non-cash asset if—

- (a) at the time of the distribution, the company has profits available for distribution; and
- (b) assuming the amount of the distribution were to be determined in accordance with this section, the company could make the distribution without contravening this Part.

(2) The amount of the distribution, or the relevant part of it, is taken to be—

- (a) if the amount or value of the consideration for the disposal is not less than the book value of the asset—nil; and
- (b) in any other case—the amount by which the book value of the asset exceeds the amount or value of any consideration for the disposal.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (1)(a), the profits of a company available for distribution are treated as increased by the amount if any by which the amount or value of any consideration for the disposition exceeds the book value of the asset.

(4) In this section “book value”, in relation to an asset, means—

- (a) the value stated in the relevant accounting records; or
- (b) if no such value is stated in those records—nil.

493. (1) This section applies if—

- (a) a company makes a distribution consisting of or including, or treated as arising in consequence of, the sale, transfer or other disposition by the company of a non-cash asset; and
- (b) any part of the amount at which that asset is stated in the relevant accounts represents an unrealised profit.

(2) For the purpose of this Part, the profit is treated as a realised profit—

- (a) for the purpose of determining the lawfulness of

Distributions in kind: treatment of unrealised profits

the distribution in accordance with this Part (whether before or after the distribution takes place); and

- (b) in relation to anything done with a view to or in connection with the making of the distribution, for the purpose of the application of any provision of the regulations (if any) under which only realised profits are to be included in, or transferred to, the profit and loss account.
- (b) if the regulations make provision in relation to the making of distributions—for the purpose of the application of any provision of the regulations under which only realised profits are to be included in, or transferred to, the profit and loss account.

Division 6—Supplementary provision

494. (1) This section applies to a distribution, or part of a distribution, that is made by a company to one of its members in contravention of this Part.

Consequences of unlawful distribution.

(2) If, at the time of the distribution, the member knew or had reasonable grounds for believing that a distribution to which this section applies was made in contravention of this Part, the member is liable—

- (a) to repay to the company the amount of the distribution or the relevant part of it; or
- (b) in the case of a distribution made otherwise than in cash, to pay the company an amount equal to the value of the distribution or part at that time.

(3) Subsection (2) does not affect any obligation imposed apart from this section on a member of a company to repay a distribution or part of a distribution that was unlawfully made to the member.

(4) This section does not apply in relation to—

- (a) financial assistance given by a company in contravention of—
 - (i) section 441 (assistance by public company for acquisition of shares in its private holding company); or
 - (ii) section 442 (assistance for acquisition of shares in public company); or

- (b) a payment made by a company in respect of the redemption or purchase by the company of shares in itself.

Division 1—General provisions

583. (1) In this Part—

“associate” has the meaning given by section 589;

“Authority” means the Capital Markets Authority;

“the company” means the company whose shares are the subject of a takeover offer;

“date of the offer” means—

- (a) if the offer is published—the date of publication;
- (b) if the offer is not published, or if any notices of the offer are given before the date of publication—the date when notices of the offer, or the first such notices, are given;

Interpretation: Part XXIV.

“holder of shares” includes—

- (a) a person who holds debentures that—
 - (i) are issued by a company to which section 588 applies; and
 - (ii) confer voting rights;
- (b) a person who holds securities of a company that are convertible into, or entitle the holder to subscribe for, shares of the company;

“non-voting shares” means shares that are not voting shares;

“offeror” means (subject to section 588) the person making a takeover offer;

“offer period”, in relation to a takeover offer, means the period from and including the date of the offer and ending with the time the offer can no longer be accepted;

“takeover offer” has the meaning given by section 584;

“the Takeover Rules” means the rules made in accordance with section 592;

“voting rights” means rights to vote at general meetings of the company, including rights that arise only in certain circumstances;

“voting shares” means shares conferring voting rights.

(2) A person contracts unconditionally to acquire shares if the person’s entitlement under the contract to acquire them is not, or is no longer, subject to conditions or if all conditions to which it was subject have been satisfied, and a reference to a contract becoming unconditional is to be read accordingly.

584.(1) For the purposes of this Part, an offer to acquire shares in a company is a takeover offer if the two conditions specified in subsections (2) and (3) are satisfied in relation to the offer.

What constitutes a takeover offer.

(2) The first condition is that it is an offer to acquire—

- (a) all the shares in a company; or
- (b) if there is more than one class of shares in a company—all the shares of one or more classes, other than shares that at the date of the offer are already held by the offeror.

(3) The second condition is that the terms of the offer are—

- (a) the same in relation to all the shares to which the offer relates; or
- (b) if the shares to which the offer relates include shares of different classes—the same in relation to all the shares of each class.

(4) In subsections (1) to (3), “shares” means shares, other than relevant treasury shares, that have been allotted on the date of the offer. (But see subsection (5)).

(5) A takeover offer may include among the shares to which it relates—

- (a) all or any shares that are allotted after the date of the offer but before a specified date;
- (b) all or any relevant treasury shares that cease to be held as treasury shares before a specified date; or
- (c) all or any other relevant treasury shares.

(6) In this section—

“relevant treasury shares” means shares that—

- (a) are held by the company as treasury shares on the date of the offer; or
- (b) become shares held by the company as treasury shares after that date but before a specified date;

“specified date” means a date specified in or determined in accordance with the terms of the offer.

585. (1) Subject to subsection (2), the reference in section 584 to shares already held by the offeror includes a reference to shares that the offeror has contracted to acquire, whether unconditionally or subject to conditions being satisfied.

Shares already held by the offeror, etc.

(2) The reference in section 584 to shares already held by the offeror does not include a reference to shares that are the subject of a contract—

- (a) intended to ensure that the holder of the shares will accept the offer when it is made; and

- (b) entered into—
 - (i) by deed and for no consideration;
 - (ii) for consideration of negligible value; or
 - (iii) for consideration consisting of a promise by the offeror to make the offer.
- (3) The condition in section 584(2) is satisfied if—
 - (a) the offer does not extend to shares that associates of the offeror hold or have contracted to acquire, whether unconditionally or subject to conditions being satisfied; and
 - (b) the condition would be satisfied if the offer did extend to those shares.

586. (1) The condition in section 584(2) is treated as satisfied if subsection (2) or (3) applies.

Cases in which offer is treated as being on same terms.

- (2) This subsection applies if—
 - (a) shares carry an entitlement to a particular dividend that other shares of the same class, because they were allotted later, do not confer;
 - (b) there is a difference in the value of consideration offered for the shares allotted earlier as against that offered for those allotted later;
 - (c) that difference merely reflects the difference in entitlement to the dividend; and
 - (d) the condition in section 584(3) would be satisfied but for that difference.
- (3) This subsection applies if—
 - (a) the law of a country outside Kenya—
 - (i) precludes an offer of consideration in the form, or any of the forms, specified in the terms of the offer or the specified form; or
 - (ii) precludes it except after compliance by the offeror with conditions with which the offeror is unable to comply or which the offeror regards as unduly onerous;
 - (b) the persons to whom an offer of consideration in the specified form is precluded are able to receive consideration in another form that is of substantially equivalent value; and

- (c) the condition in section 584(3) would be satisfied but for the fact that an offer of consideration in the specified form to those persons is precluded.

587. (1) For the purposes of this Part, shares are not included in a takeover offer if they are shares that the offeror acquired, or unconditionally contracted to acquire, during the offer period, but were not acquired as a result of acceptances of the offer.

Effect of impossibility etc of communicating or accepting offer.

(2) For the purposes of this Part, shares that an associate of the offeror holds or has contracted to acquire, whether at the date of the offer or subsequently, are not to be treated as shares to which the offer relates, even if the offer extends to those shares.

(3) In this section “contracted” means contracted unconditionally or contracted subject to specified conditions being satisfied.

(4) This section is subject to section 611(8) and (9).

588. (1) The fact an offer to acquire shares in a company is not communicated to some of the holders of shares in the company does not prevent the offer from being a takeover offer for purposes of this Part if—

Certain shares excluded from offer.

- (a) those shareholders have no registered address in Kenya;
- (b) the offer was not communicated to the shareholders in order not to contravene the law of a country outside Kenya; and
- (c) either—
 - (i) the offer is published in the Gazette; or
 - (ii) the offer can be inspected, or a copy of it may be obtained, at a place in Kenya or on a website, and a notice is published in the Gazette specifying the address of that place or website.

(2) The fact that an offer is made to acquire shares in a company and a law of a country outside Kenya makes it impossible, or more difficult, for some holders of shares in the company to accept the offer, does not prevent the offer from being a takeover offer for the purposes of this Part.

(3) It is not to be inferred—

- (a) that an offer that is not communicated to every holder of shares in the company cannot be a takeover offer for the purposes of this Part unless the requirements of subsection (1)(a) to (c) are satisfied; or
- (b) that an offer that is impossible, or more difficult, for certain persons to accept cannot be a takeover offer for those purposes unless the reason for the impossibility or difficulty is the one referred to in subsection (2).

(4) If a takeover offer is made and, during the period beginning with the date of the offer and ending when the offer can no longer be accepted, the offeror—

- (a) acquires or unconditionally contracts to acquire any of the shares to which the offer relates, but
- (b) does not do so by virtue of acceptance of the offer, those shares are treated for the purposes of this Part as excluded from those to which the offer relates.

(5) For the purposes of this Part, shares that an associate of the offeror holds or has contracted to acquire, whether at the date of the offer or subsequently, are not treated as shares to which the offer relates, even if the offer extends to such shares.

(6) In subsection (5), “contracted” means contracted unconditionally or subject to conditions being satisfied.

(7) Subsections (4) and (5) are subject to section 611(8) and (9).

589. (1) For the purpose of this Part, a person is an associate of an offeror if the person is—

- (a) a nominee of the offeror;
- (b) a holding company, subsidiary or fellow subsidiary of the offeror or a nominee of such a holding company, subsidiary or fellow subsidiary;

- (c) a body corporate in which the offeror is substantially interested;
- (d) a person who is, or is a nominee of, a party to a share acquisition agreement with the offeror; or
- (e) if the offeror is a natural person—the spouse, or any child or step-child, of the person.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1)(b), a company is a fellow subsidiary of another body corporate if both are subsidiaries of the same body corporate but neither is a subsidiary of the other.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (1)(c), an offeror has a substantial interest in a body corporate if—

- (a) the body or its directors are accustomed to act in accordance with the offeror's directions or instructions; or
- (b) the offeror is entitled to exercise or control the exercise of one-third or more of the voting power at general meetings of the body.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (1)(d), an agreement is a share acquisition agreement if—

- (a) it is an agreement for the acquisition of, or of an interest in, shares to which the offer relates;
- (b) it includes provisions imposing obligations or restrictions on any one or more of the parties to it with respect to their use, retention or disposal of those shares, or their interests in those shares, acquired under the agreement; and
- (c) it is not an excluded agreement.

(5) An agreement is an excluded agreement for the purpose of subsection (4)(c)—

- (a) if it is only legally binding if it involves mutuality in the undertakings, expectations or understandings of the parties to it; or
- (b) if it is an agreement to underwrite or subunderwrite an offer of shares in a company provided the agreement is confined to that purpose and any matters incidental to it.

(6) The reference in subsection (4)(b) to the use of interests in shares is to the exercise of any rights or of any control or influence arising from those interests (including the right to enter into an agreement for the exercise, or for control of the exercise, of any of those rights by another person).

(7) In this section—

- (a) “agreement” includes any agreement or arrangement; and
- (b) references to provisions of an agreement include—
 - (i) undertakings, expectations or understandings operative under an arrangement; and
 - (ii) any provision whether express or implied and whether absolute or not.

590. (1) For the purposes of this Part, debentures issued by a company to which subsection (2) applies are treated as shares in the company if they confer voting rights.

How debentures that confer voting rights are treated for the purposes of this Part.

(2) This subsection applies to a company that has voting shares, or debentures carrying voting rights, that are admitted to trading on a regulated market.

(3) In this Part, in relation to debentures that are to be treated as shares because of subsection (1), references to shares being allotted are to be treated as including references to debentures being issued.

591. (1) For the purposes of this Part, securities of a company are to be treated as shares in the company if they are convertible into, or entitle the holder to subscribe for, such shares.

How convertible securities are to be treated for purposes of this Part.

(2) Subsection (1) does not require securities to be treated—

- (a) as shares of the same class as those into which they are convertible or for which the holder is entitled to subscribe; or

- (b) as shares of the same class as other securities only because the shares into which they are convertible, or for which the holder is entitled to subscribe, are of the same class.

MEMORANDUM OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The objects of the proposed Act are to facilitate commerce, industry and other socio-economic activities by enabling one or more natural persons to incorporate as legal entities with perpetual succession, with or without limited liability, and to provide for the regulation of those entities in the public interest, and in particular in the interests of their members and creditors. The aim is to develop a modern companies law to support a competitive economy in a coherent and comprehensive form. The Bill seeks to consolidate the law relating to the incorporation, registration, operation and management of companies and the registration, operation and management of foreign companies that carry on business in Kenya.

The Bill has taken into consideration the current trends on globalisation and regional integration with particular reference to the East Africa Community and reflects the present day circumstances of carrying on business including modern patterns of regulation and ownership.

PART I (clauses 1-4) deals with preliminary matters. In addition to providing for the commencement of the Bill's provisions, the Part specifies the objects of the proposed Act (see above) and defines various terms used in it, including "subsidiary", "holding company", "undertaking", "parent undertaking", "subsidiary undertaking", and "dormant company".

PART II (clauses 5-19) outlines the types of companies that can be formed and deals with their formation and registration. Companies can either be limited by shares or by guarantee or have unlimited liability. Companies limited by shares can either be public companies (which are generally large corporations) or private companies (which are generally small proprietary companies).

The Part also provides for the formation of companies. A company limited by shares is required to have a memorandum of association and articles of association, which together form the company's constitution. Such a company is also required to have a statement of capital and initial shareholdings. A company limited by guarantee is required to register a statement of guarantee. A company may also be registered as an unlimited company, in which case the liability of its members on liquidation of the company is unlimited.

On registration of the required documents, the Registrar of Companies is required to issue the company with certificate of incorporation. Companies registered under earlier companies legislation will continue under the Bill when it is enacted. When registered, a company will have perpetual succession irrespective of its membership.

PART III (clauses 20-32) makes further provision for a company's constitution (i.e. its memorandum and articles of association). Among other things, the Part provides a procedure to enable a company to amend its articles. The Part also gives the Cabinet Secretary power to prescribe model articles of association. This is designed to make the registration of companies cheaper and easier.

Other provisions specify requirements concerning the objects of a company and the effects of the constitution of a company. It will now be possible for a private company to consist of a single natural person. (See below)

PART IV (clauses 33-47) deals with the capacity of a company to do certain acts. In particular, it confers power on a company's directors to bind the company. It also confers on a company to enter into contracts and makes provision for the execution of contracts and other documents by a company.

Provision is also made for a company to have a common seal (but a company is not obliged to have one) and provides for its use for the authentication of documents executed by a company. A further provision will enable a company to have an official seal for use outside Kenya.

Other provisions of the Part relate to pre-incorporation contracts, deeds and obligations entered into by a company and the execution of bills of exchange and promissory notes by companies. As now, a company will be required to have a registered office and to notify the Registrar of Companies of any change of address of its registered office.

PART V (clauses 48-68) deals with company names and will prohibit the registration of names that are offensive, similar to the name of another company or names that, if used would constitute an offence. The Part also regulates the use of names that suggest a connection with the Government or a public authority. The Part further gives the Cabinet Secretary the power to make regulations specifying the type of names to be used in the registration of a company.

Other provisions will allow a company to change its name by special resolution or by means provided for in its articles and provide for the registration of such a change and for the issue to the company a new certificate of incorporation. Further provisions specify the effect of a change of a company's name and will require a company to disclose its name in all its documents and publications.

PART VI (clauses 69-91) will enable a company to alter its status by converting itself into another kind of company. In particular —

- a private company will be able to convert itself into a public company;
- a public company will be able to be convert itself into a private limited company;
- a private limited company will be able to convert itself into an unlimited company;
- an unlimited company will be able to convert itself into a limited company; and
- a public company will be able to be able to convert itself into a company that is both private and unlimited.

Another provision will require the Registrar of Companies not to process an application for the registration of a conversion of a company into another kind of company unless the application complies with prescribed requirements. A further provision will require the Registrar to issue a certificate of incorporation to the company on registration of the conversion.

PART VII (clauses 92-113) deals with the membership of a company. In particular, the Part relates to members of companies and, in particular, prescribes how persons become members of a company. Among other things, the Part will require a company to keep a register of members and to keep the register available for inspection at its registered office.

Other provisions—

- will require certain companies to keep an index of its members; and
- specify the rights of persons to inspect a company's register of members and require copies.

Further provisions will enable the High Court to rectify company's register of members and prohibit a company from entering notices of trusts on its register of members.

The Part—

- will also prohibit a subsidiary from being a member of its holding company; and
- prescribes other provisions relating to subsidiaries of a company.

A provision of the Part will allow a private company to have only one member.

PART VIII (clauses 114-121) provides for the exercise of rights of the members of a company. In particular, the Part specifies the effect of provisions of articles on the enjoyment or exercise of rights of members. Other provisions enable certain persons to have information rights relating to traded companies (i.e. companies whose shares are traded on an authorised stock exchange) and confer other rights to information about companies and enable the rights of members to be exercised by others in certain circumstances.

PART IX (clauses 122-213) provides for the appointment and removal of directors of a company. In particular, the Part will require a company to have directors. Only natural persons will be able to hold office as directors. Other provisions—

- prescribe the qualifications required for appointment as a director of a company;
- require a company to keep a register of its directors; and
- prescribe the particulars of directors that are to be recorded in the register.

Another provision will require a company to notify appointments of directors and of their addresses to the Registrar of Companies and also when directors cease to hold office as such or any changes relating to them occur. Another provision provides for directors to be removed from office by resolution of the members. Further provisions prescribe directors' rights and duties of office. These include—

- a director's right to protest against removal;
- the duty of a director to act within power;
- the duty of a director to promote the success of the company;
- the duty of a director to exercise independent judgment;
- the duty of a director to exercise reasonable care, skill and diligence;
- the duty of a director to avoid conflicts of interest; and
- the duty of a director not to accept benefits from third parties.

A further provision specifies the civil consequences of a breach by a director of these duties. Yet other provisions require a director to declare an interest in a proposed or existing transaction or arrangement and provide that certain transactions involving directors require the approval of the members of the company. These transactions include—

- directors' long-term service contracts;
- substantial property transactions;
- loans and quasi-loans to directors and to persons connected with directors; and
- certain credit transactions.

Further provisions deal with payments to directors for loss of office. Such payments will require approval by members of the company.

Yet further provisions deal with directors' service contracts and require a company to keep a copy of the relevant contract or memorandum of terms available for inspection. Another provision deals with contracts with a sole member of a company where the member is also a director.

Other provisions deal with provisions of contracts (qualifying indemnifying provisions) that purport to protect directors from potential liability to the company and its members and require directors to disclose qualifying indemnity provisions in the annual directors' report. Members of a company will be entitled to inspect and request a copy of qualifying indemnity provision.

With a few exceptions, a company that is restored to the Register will retain the name it had before it was dissolved or struck off the Register. If undistributed property of a company has vested in the State, the person who currently owns the property will nevertheless be able to lawfully dispose of it despite the fact that the company is or may be restored to the Register under this Part. The State will become liable to pay the company an amount equal to the greater of the amount of any consideration received for the property and the value of the property at the date of the disposition or, if no consideration was received for the disposition, an amount equal to the value of the property at the date of the disposition.

PART XXXIV (clauses 923-930) deals with compromises, arrangements, reconstructions and amalgamations of companies. For the purpose of obtaining approval to a compromise or arrangement, the High Court will be empowered to order a meeting of the company's creditors or members to be held. When the Court has ordered a meeting of the company's creditors or members to be convened, the directors of the company concerned will be required to circulate or make available an explanatory statement for the company's creditors and members. If the proposed compromise or arrangement is approved by 75 percent of those present and voting at the meeting, the Court will, on the application of the company or any member or creditor of the company (or if the company is in liquidation or under administration, the liquidator or administrator), be able to make an order sanctioning the compromise or arrangement. Such an order will be binding on the company and its creditors (and if the company is in liquidation, on the liquidator and all contributories), but will have no effect until registered with the Registrar of Companies.

If an application is made to the Court to sanction a compromise or arrangement and it is shown that the compromise or arrangement is proposed for the purposes of a scheme for the reconstruction of a company or companies, or the amalgamation of two or more companies, and under the scheme the whole or any part of the undertaking or the property of any of the companies concerned in the scheme is to be transferred to another company, the Court will have further powers to facilitate the proposed reconstruction or amalgamation. If an order of the Court made under the Part amends the company's articles, the company will be required to lodge a copy of the amended articles with the Registrar of Companies for registration.

PART XXXV (clauses 931-969) facilitates the merger of public companies and the division of companies into smaller units.

Before companies can merge, draft terms of the scheme for the proposed merger will be required to be prepared and published. A scheme will not be effective unless it is approved by the members of the merging companies. The directors of merging companies will be required to prepare explanatory reports relating to the proposed merger and to arrange for the preparation of experts' reports. A supplementary financial statement relating to the proposed merger will also be required. Members of the merging companies will be entitled to inspect the merger documents. It will also be necessary for the articles of association of the transferee company involved in the merger to be approved and to make provision for the protection of holders of securities to which special rights are attached. An allotment of the transferee company's shares to the transferor company (or its nominee) will be prohibited. In specified circumstances, it will not be necessary to provide certain particulars and reports not required in relation to a proposed merger. Similarly, in specified circumstances, a meeting of members of the transferee company will not be required.

Before a division involving companies can be effected, draft terms of the scheme will be required to be prepared and published in relation to the proposed division. The scheme will require the approval of members of the companies involved in the proposed division. The directors of the company or companies concerned will be required to prepare an explanatory report in relation to the proposed division. An expert's report will also be required for each company involved in the proposed division and in certain cases a supplementary financial statement will be required. Members of the companies involved in the proposed division will be entitled to inspect the documents relating to the division. A report on material changes of assets of the transferor company involved in the proposed division will also be required. It will be a requirement that the articles of the transferee company involved in the proposed division be approved by the transferor company. The scheme will be required to provide for the protection of holders of securities to which special rights are attached. An allotment of shares to the transferor company (or its nominee) will be prohibited. In specified circumstances, a meeting of members of the transferor company involved in the proposed division will not be required. It will also be possible for the members of companies involved in a proposed division to agree to dispense with reports that would otherwise be required. Also, the High Court will have power to exclude certain requirements that would otherwise apply in respect of a division.

Other provisions provide for a valuation to be made by an independent valuer and will empower the High Court to convene a meeting of members or creditors of an existing transferee company and to fix a date for the transfer of the transferor company's undertaking. Transferee companies will be liable for each other's defaults.

PART XXXVI (clauses 970-973) will enable companies not formed under existing companies legislation to be registered under the proposed Act.
