CALL FOR SUBMISSION OF PROFILES AND PROPOSALS FOR PROVISION OF EXTERNAL AUDIT SERVICES

INTRODUCTION:

The East African Wild Life Society (EAWLS) is a membership based Non-Governmental Organization and the oldest conservation organization in East Africa that came into being in 1961 through a merger of Kenya and Tanzania Wild Life Societies both founded in 1956.

EAWLS seeks to enhance the conservation and wise-use of the environment and natural resources in East Africa. The organization focuses its conservation programs in four main areas: Forests, Wildlife, Wetlands and Marine. EAWLS has a strong community-based approach in its conservation programmes and initiatives.

The success of EAWLS is attributed to a three-pronged approach of advocacy, community-based conservation and public engagement on conservation challenges, insights and achievements.

EAWLS is also the publisher of the renowned Swara Magazine, the oldest and most respected conservation magazine in the region. Dedicated to our advocacy efforts, each issue is full of interesting, informative articles on conservation topics with stunning images by renowned photographers. Swara is an ageless publication distributed to all EAWLS members and partners globally.

The Society's highest organ is the Annual General Meeting (AGM) which is composed of all the members.

VISION

An East Africa where people enjoy the full diversity, beauty and richness of nature.

MISSION

Promote the conservation and wise use of the environment and natural resources in East Africa.
